“My success is measured by the seeds I sow, not the harvest I reap.” - John C. Maxwell

As I reflect on this quote and my past six years in the blue corduroy jacket, I can't help but think about all this organization has taught me. However, one lesson stands above the rest: this journey was never meant to be about personal recognition. Instead, it is about you, the nearly 30,000 Oklahoma FFA members. Every camp I attended, every contest I practiced for, and every role I held, point back to one purpose, serving you.

The most meaningful moments throughout my FFA journey weren't the ones with my name attached to them. They were the long conversations with a member before their first contest, watching members find their place in this organization, and seeing confidence spark during a small group session at Alumni Camp. These are the moments that mattered the most to me, the quiet investment made without expecting any recognition.

This organization has taught me that impact happens long before the results are visible. You may never see the harvest of what you plant, but that only strengthens its value. I don't want to be remembered for titles or achievements, but for the way I made others feel. It would be an honor to continue serving you, the members of the Oklahoma FFA Association, as your next State FFA President.

Sincerely,

Coy Davidson

"The rain came, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against the house; yet it did not fall, because its foundation was built on the rock."

- Mathew 7:25 (NIV)

For many of us, FFA is our foundation. The place that holds us steady through the rain, rising streams, and winds. Through my journey, I've realized that life doesn't always move in neat periods. More often, it feels like a semicolon - strong enough to pause us, but not strong enough to crush us. Leadership works the same way. There are moments when pressure hits hard, expectations pile up, and failure feels close enough to touch. When it would have been easier to stop, to quit, or to put a period where the story still needed to continue, but FFA taught me to keep building, even in the storm.

As my time in the blue jacket begins to wind down, I hope you remember this: never get caught up in a title, but always focus on service. Leadership isn't about position; it's about impact. And if you ever find yourself in an uncertain or uncomfortable place, trust that God is using you. Never put a period where God has placed a comma, because your story is not over yet.

The past six years have been incredible, and it would truly be an honor to continue serving this organization as State FFA President, building on the foundation FFA has given me.

Sincerely,

LeAundre Delonia

SAE

My Supervised Agricultural Experiences include small animal production (rabbits), sheep entrepreneurship, and poultry entrepreneurship (broilers). These experiences have varied from raising and exhibiting rabbits from my breeding operation to exhibiting market wethers and breeding ewes at local and state shows and raising and processing broiler chickens sold directly to consumers. I also developed agriscience research projects utilizing my livestock SAEs to increase the efficiency of those projects.

FUTURE PLANS

I am currently a freshman at Oklahoma State University, pursuing a degree in Agricultural Education. Once I graduate from OSU, I aspire to become an agricultural educator in Oklahoma. My goal is to inspire and support my students, helping them reach their full potential, just as my own ag teacher did for me.

“There is no such thing as a self-made person. You will reach your goals only with the help of others.”

— Harry S. Truman

Just moments before the sixth and final session of 2025 State Convention, I was walking on the floor of the BOK Center with about twenty minutes before I needed to be in my seat. As I moved through the crowd, it seemed that everywhere I turned, I encountered someone I recognized. Some were individuals I had known through FFA for five years, sharing chapters, contests, and countless memories. Others were people I had only known for a few weeks, yet our paths had crossed in meaningful ways. In that brief span of time, I was reminded of how wide and deeply connected the FFA family truly is, and those moments brought a sense of calm and reflection.

Standing there, surrounded by familiar faces, I realized that my journey had never been one I walked alone. Every conversation, every handshake, and every shared experience had led me to that exact place at that exact moment. That realization reflects exactly what this year has been about: the people and the connections that will last a lifetime. Serving as your State Reporter has been an opportunity of a lifetime, one that has shaped me, challenged me, and taught me the true meaning of service. With deep gratitude, I would be honored to continue serving and give back for one more year as your State President.

Sincerely,

Darla Fesmire

SUPERVISED AGRICULTURAL EXPERIENCE

My Supervised Agriculture Experience is Diversified Livestock Production Entrepreneurship. In my operation, I work alongside my dad to raise show sheep and cattle. I have about 30 cows and 10 ewes in my operation. I raise lambs and cattle for 4-H and FFA members to exhibit on the local, state, and national level.

FUTURE PLANS

I am currently a freshman at Oklahoma State University, majoring in Animal Science. After graduation, I plan to pursue a master's degree in Animal Nutrition, with more focus on efficient feed rations for livestock. Wherever my career takes me, I plan to remain actively involved in my community and continue working with youth.

“A leader is one who knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way” – Roy T. Bennett

My family has been active in 4-H and FFA for generations, but what stuck with me as a third-grade 4-H member was watching my older brother walk out the door in that blue corduroy jacket for every FFA event. I remember attending OYE and watching all the older students in blue and gold enter the ring. Watching my brothers' late nights and early mornings, watching their successes through FFA, built an excitement in me that couldn't be contained. Then came my turn to zip up the blue jacket for the first time in 8th grade, and I knew from that moment on my life had changed. As I grew through the program and saw the impact that State FFA Officers could have, I knew becoming a state officer was a commitment I wanted to make too. I want to be a helping hand in the lives of FFA members across the state and encourage them to be great.

Through my years in FFA, I have seen the positive impacts of this great association on not only others, but myself. CDEs, SAEs, and LDEs have impacted me and my chapter on the local level, but I want to be that role model, that leader, that person others look up to: An Oklahoma State FFA Officer.

Sincerely,

Ian Morris

SUPERVISED AGRICULTURE EXPERIENCE:

My SAE program reflects my passion for livestock, entrepreneurship, and agriculture through a combination of production, placement, and business ownership in the areas of Swine and Landscape Management. My swine production SAE allows me to manage the daily care, nutrition, and development of my show pigs. My entrepreneurship SAEs- Morris Landscaping and Vital Swine Supplements- have helped me grow as a young agricultural business leader. My placement SAEs with Express Ranches, Halphen Show Pigs, and Atwoods Ranch & Home have further strengthened my experience in agriculture. This unique combination of experiences has taught me discipline, resilience, time management, and responsibility across a variety of agricultural fields.

FUTURE PLANS:

Upon graduation from Yukon High School, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University and pursue a degree in Agriculture Business. After completing the Agriculture Business program at Oklahoma State, I will continue my education by attending law school with the goal of becoming an agricultural corporate lawyer.

“For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many”. Mark 10:45

In Mark 10:45, it reminds us that even the King of Kings and Lord of Lords chose to serve his people rather than himself. It helps us remain humble and to always serve others, rather than ourselves. As a current chapter officer, I want to reflect the same heart of service that Jesus had for us all. Leadership isn't about the titles, recognition, or fame; it's about sacrificing your time, your energy, and your heart for others. Whether it's lending a helping hand to someone or working behind the scenes, I believe servant leadership is what makes a true difference, not only in FFA but in our lives.

The FFA organization has helped shape me into the man I am today. Through this organization, I've grown in confidence, character, and faith. It has given me opportunities to step outside my comfort zone, discover my purpose, and deepen my relationship with Christ. More than anything, FFA has given me friendships, mentors, and memories that will last a lifetime. When I prayed for a purpose, God dragged me to the AG barn.

Sincerely,

Kaden Pliler

SAE

My SAE consists mostly of a swine production entrepreneurship. I currently own two barrows with my sister. Together we raise, show, and sell swine. I also haul hay in the summer for Diamond S Farms as part of my placement SAE.

FUTURE PLANS

As a current senior at Purcell High School, I plan to continue expanding my swine operation. After high school, I plan on attending Oklahoma State University to pursue a degree in Agricultural Education and Agribusiness with a pre-law option. My primary goal is to become an agriculture teacher and eventually work at the State Capitol to help create policies that continue to strengthen agriculture and ensure a strong future for the next generation.

“You don’t understand now what I am doing, but someday you will.” - John 13:7

When I first joined FFA during my freshman year, I was very shy and timid, with no idea of the impact this organization would have on my future. I had a friend who had joined FFA a year before me and told me to come to class with the FFA Creed fully memorized so I could win a free jacket. I spent the last few weeks of summer memorizing the creed, and when I came to class the first day of school, I was able to recite the creed and win my first FFA jacket. Little did I know in that moment how much those six sentences and that one corduroy jacket were going to change my life.

I decided to compete in the FFA creed that spring. Although I didn’t make it to the Area Contest, I didn’t give up. I came back the next year with another prepared speech and continued competing in speeches ever since. Public Speaking quickly became my favorite contest and helped me realize my love and passion for public speaking.

But my love for the FFA didn’t stop there. I quickly found myself attending all the leadership conferences and competing in every contest I could. Looking back, little freshman Channing would have been terrified to talk in front of a group of people and never would have even imagined attending camps where I would have to stay with a bunch of girls I had never met before. But here I am today, not just doing all of those things but loving them. But that change didn’t happen overnight. It was through all the people who supported me, encouraged me, and believed in me when I didn’t even believe in myself. The impact this organization has had on my life is something I will forever be grateful for, so Oklahoma FFA, it would be my privilege to serve the organization that has given so much to me.

Sincerely,

Channing Anderson

SAE PROGRAM

I have had three Supervised Agricultural Experiences (SAE) throughout my time in the FFA. They include Showing Pigs, beekeeping, and Animal Care. I have been a part of the Swine Showmanship SAE ever since I joined FFA my freshman year. This year, I have six pigs and plan on competing in showmanship as well. My Bee Keeping SAE involved me checking the bees every couple of months, adding boxes to the hives, and collecting honey. I would usually collect honey once a year at the beginning of fall. This past July, I sold my honey bee hives and all the materials that go with them. My Animal Care SAE is my newest SAE. I use this to earn money for my state degree. I take care of all different kinds of farm animals by feeding and watering them and doing anything else the owners need me to do. I will meet with the clients beforehand to go over feeding routines, how often I need to go over, and anything else that may need to be covered before I start the job. Throughout these three SAEs, I have learned a lot and gained many skills like responsibility, sportsmanship, working hard, communication, and time management. These skills will not only be helpful throughout my SAE programs but will also help set me up to have a successful life.

FUTURE PLANS

- Upon Graduation, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to get a bachelors degrees majoring in Agriculture Business with a minor in event planning. Obtaining this degree, I hope to find a career as an event planner for an agriculture business within the state of Oklahoma.

“Whoever is faithful in very little is also faithful in much.” Luke 16:10
People.

That is what FFA has always meant to me.

Before I understood the blue corduroy jacket or the emblem it carries, I learned the power of people—those who listen, those who show up, and those who care. Through this organization, I've discovered what it means to belong to something greater than myself.

Through my time in FFA, I have learned to live with intention. To be present. To recognize the impact we can have on others simply by being there. I've learned that leadership is not always about standing in front—it is often about standing beside someone when they need it most.

Every meeting, experience, and shared moment within this organization has fueled a deeper passion for service. A desire to make others feel seen, heard, and valued. A commitment to use the opportunities we are given to make a difference, no matter how small the moment may seem.

The time we have in this jacket is limited. But the impact we leave does not have to be. My fire is fueled by the people of this organization, and I am committed to serving FFA and its members—not only for the year ahead, but for a lifetime.

Sincerely,

Colby Barnes

“True friends are never apart apart, maybe in distance but never in heart.” – Helen Keller

“Write down a goal for the next five years in FFA.” A nervous eight grade version of myself sat in a chair at Made For Excellence listening to Kelley Barnes encourage us to write down goals. Five years ago, I had no idea what to create as a goal, with no knowledge as to what I would actually do in FFA. I thought of one goal I could accomplish no matter what I became involved in that would challenge me. This is what I wrote: “Make one new friend at every FFA event.” At the time, I don’t think I realized just how many events I would end up at and how many friends I would make.

FFA members, through this goal, some of you have become my very best friends. Through one goal I thought would be simple, I created a family that has shown up for me time and time again. There is no feeling like walking into a school five hours away from home and being greeted by the people you built bonds with over agronomy contests, extemporaneous questions, or livestock shown. I thank FFA every day for these amazing relationships built by a shared passion for agriculture.

Sincerely,

Katelee Martin

SAE PROGRAM

My SAE mainly consists of an agriculture communications project where I create content for an ag-based social media page on TikTok and Instagram. In this SAE I also photograph livestock shows and lead social media teams. My other SAEs are a Farm Labor placement project, a Crop Production project, a Goat Production project, and a Beef project.

FUTURE PLANS

I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to pursue a degree in Plant and Soil Sciences with a minor in International Agriculture. After obtaining a degree, I hope to work internationally as an agronomist.

"For we are God's handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do." - Ephesians 2:10

Life is like a puzzle that we are handed with a blank picture on the box. You start with different parts of yourself and a multitude of ways they could fit together. You learn, grow, and try to figure out what the picture will look like. Some of us think we know exactly what that is—some wonder forever.

The true way to find your purpose is to find yourself. That is what FFA has done for me. Every unique aspect of my personality that may have been seen as a flaw in the past is now something I value greatly. I understand that I still have a lot to learn, but I feel that my calling in life is becoming increasingly apparent. Help others reach the truest, fullest, happiest version of themselves, even when they think that person doesn't exist.

FFA transformed me from someone who wondered if her pieces would ever be meaningful to a person with love in her heart, faith shown in her works, and a desire to make a genuine impact on those who need it most. The encouragement of those who believed in me helped me see where my pieces truly fit. My place has been prepared, and it is rooted in agriculture, grounded in service, and defined by putting others before myself.

Sincerely,

Hailey Helmke

“The clothes you wear are a metamorphosis. They change you from the outside in.” -Linda Grant

Walking into my first FFA Creed-Speaking contest, I was unsure what to expect. After all, the only FFA event I had been to was our banquet's opening and closing ceremonies the year before. This contest was the first time I had worn official dress. The jacket was stiff and felt unnatural. The uncomfortableness changed once I stepped into that large room filled with members wearing their blue corduroy jackets. My posture straightened, my words suddenly carried purpose, and I felt an overwhelming sense of responsibility not just to represent myself, but to represent my chapter, my community, and my future.

Through my time in FFA, my jacket no longer stiff, now reflects moments of growth, including both successes and failures. As I prepare to take off this jacket for the final time, I ask for the opportunity to wear it one more year and pass on the lessons from my experiences. FFA members, I would be honored to serve as your next Central Area Vice President.

Sincerely,

Rance Howard

My SAE consists of beef production. I show steers, caring for them everyday. I also own registered Simmental cows I bought with calves at their sides. I work their calves and market them at the sale.

FUTURE PLANS

I aspire to serve Oklahoma through professional service while pursuing a degree in Agribusiness/Pre-Veterinary Business Management at Oklahoma State University. I also plan to attend veterinary school at Oklahoma State University. My long-term goal is to become a veterinarian serving Oklahoma by caring for animals, supporting agricultural producers, and opening my own clinic to contribute to my local community and economy.

“Failure is not the opposite of success; it’s part of success.” -Arianna Huffington

October 22nd, 2019, a day full of ups and downs, lefts and rights, and everything in between. I will never forget that night under the stadium lights, fans from Perkins and Guthrie packed in for one thing: the sixth-grade Bandit Championship, where we lost the game that felt soul-crushing. Looking back, twelve-year-old Jace may have been right about how much that moment mattered, but for the wrong reason. That game showed me that success often comes after setbacks and failures, and that while competition matters, what matters more is leaning on the people we meet along the way.

This organization has shaped who I am by reinforcing the same lesson I learned under those lights, that growth comes from the journey, not just the outcome. It's easy to get caught chasing banners, buckles, and the recognition that comes with winning, but FFA reminded me to value the lessons, the people, and the moments in between. Through it all, I've learned to slow down, stay present, and build friendships that last far beyond any award.

For the last four years I have been so blessed to be a part of such a great organization. From getting dead last at my first livestock judging contest to competing in the biggest dodgeball tournament ever, I've learned that the lessons, laughter, and friendships along the way matter far more than the wins or losses. So with my time dwindling down I ask for one more year in this great organization as your next Central Area Vice President.

Sincerely,

Jace Myers

SAE PROGRAM

My supervised agricultural experience consists of Goat Production and Turf Grass Management. During my high school career, I started a small pygmy goat operation that I ran for four years where I would raise and sell the goat kids at the local sale barn. I also worked for Tropics Mowing as a placement SAE throughout my time in the FFA where I mowed lawns, weeded, and conducted numerous job duties.

FUTURE PLANS

Upon graduation, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University and earn a Bachelor of Biochemistry & Molecular Biology. Through my experiences in the FFA I have developed a desire to serve others and upon graduation I will continue my education at the Oklahoma State University College of Osteopathic Medicine where I can then serve as a doctor in a rural community.

“You cannot consistently perform in a manner which is inconsistent with the way you see yourself.” –Zig Ziglar

One of the most important critiques I have ever received in a speech room was, “I loved your confidence!” It was my first year giving speeches, and this was one of the first things I was told. I didn’t realize it then, but those words would stick with me throughout the rest of my time in this organization.

As I continued to compete over the years, negative thoughts started to flood my mind: “What if I forget my speech?” “What if I don’t know the answers to my questions?” “What if I talk too fast?” All of these “what ifs” had one theme in common—doubt. However, while these questions were playing in my head, so was that comment about my confidence. What came to the front of my mind was simply to walk in with confidence. Although I may experience self-doubt, I’ve learned that it doesn’t affect me when I enter a situation with confidence.

I share this because I know I am not the only FFA member who has those same “what if” thoughts in the back of their mind. Self-doubt doesn’t just go away, and it may never fully disappear. What I have learned, however, is that it can be refocused. When I stopped letting doubt define me and instead chose to walk in viewing myself as confident, everything changed. Confidence is not the absence of fear, but the decision to move forward despite it. If you change your mindset and see yourself as confident, you can accomplish anything you set your mind to. And most importantly, you are not alone in feeling this way.

As FFA members, how we perform is shaped by how we see ourselves. When we choose to view ourselves as confident and capable, our actions begin to match that mindset. Changing how you see yourself can change what you believe you’re capable of accomplishing.

Sincerely,

Isabella Clay

My supervised agricultural experiences include Beef Production Entrepreneurship and Sheep Production Placement. For my beef SAE, I help operate Clay Farms with my family, managing a small cow-calf operation that raises calves for market or replacements while focusing on high-quality genetics. For my Sheep Production Placement SAE, I work for DC Club Lambs, where I assist with daily care, breeding, lambing, and show lamb sales for FFA and 4-H members.

FUTURE PLANS

Following high school, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to do a dual major in Agricultural Business and Communications. After graduation, my goal is to utilize my degree to help strengthen rural communities and support the future of the agricultural industry.

“A strong man stands up for himself, but a stronger man stands up for others.”

— Ben the Cow, Barnyard

“If someone gave you 86,400 dollars a day to spend however you want, but at the end of the day all the money you didn't spend got taken away. What would you do with it?” The speaker gave us all some time to think then he continued, “the money mentioned is not real, it is the number of seconds you get in each and every day”. This saying hit me like a train. It made me realize that every second that ticks by is one that I will never get back.

As my time in the FFA Organization is coming to an end I have spent a lot of time thinking back to those seconds that have slowly come and gone. I think back to my eighth-grade year with my O.C.C team and all the memories I had with them and to my sophomore year when my speech really wasn't that good, but I had my friends there to support me. Lastly, this year, when I said goodbye to Camp Tulakogee as I got on the bus to leave Alumni Camp for the final time.

All of the seconds that have come and gone throughout my years in FFA have something in common, the impactful people. I strive to be like those individuals, for the future generations of FFA. I've spent my whole life loving this organization and I wish for one more year to spend every last second serving it.

Sincerely, Jarrett Cowan
Jarrett Cowan

SAE PROGRAM

My SAE is exhibiting and Club lambs. All of my spare time is spent tending to my livestock and preparing the animals as well as myself for the numerous shows that I will attend. This has always been a passion of mine, not only for the experience of showing, but also for all of the people I meet and the friendships I make.

Future Plans

When I graduate from Pryor Highschool, I will attend Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. Once there I will major in Agricultural Education with a minor in Agricultural Communications. When I graduate, I will move to a high school within the Northeast area of Oklahoma to pursue my passion of teaching the lifestyles and values of the FFA Organization, and everyday agricultural life.

"If you can't figure out your purpose, figure out your passion. For your passion will lead right into your purpose." - Bishop T.D. Jakes

Where do you belong? A phrase I had asked myself every day leading up to high school. For so many years, I had been searching for a place that would bring me passion and spark my joy. Growing up, I had watched all my friends find their niche in sports, academics, and clubs, all while I felt like I had no place at all. Again, leaving me asking myself, "Where do I belong?" Until my freshman year, when I was encouraged to join the FFA, that was my defining moment. I had finally found the place where I began to feel genuinely welcomed, and I finally found my spark.

Oklahoma FFA showed me that no matter where you come from, you have a place and a family. It showed me that, at the time, I didn't know my purpose, but FFA gave me a passion. From my passion, I have a newfound purpose in life; every conference, contest, and chapter meeting reminded me that FFA is so much more than an organization. I want to give back to the people who have given me a home and a place to continuously turn to. I want to help you answer the question, "Where do you belong?" by showing you the family I had been searching for and helping you find your passion and purpose in life!

Sincerely,

Sloane McIntire

SAE

My supervised agricultural experience program consists of Swine Production Entrepreneurship, encompassing the purchase, raising, and exhibition of a variety of purebred swine. Following the exhibition at the area and state levels, I plan and organize the sale, processing, and distribution of pork products to local consumers.

FUTURE PLANS

Upon graduation from Skiatook Public Schools, I will further my education at Oklahoma State University, where I will major in Agricultural Education with a minor in Horticulture. Once I receive my degree, I will pursue a career in Agricultural Education in Oklahoma. My goal is to teach students the same importance of agriculture that I have learned.

“A true leader knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way.” -John C. Maxwell

I can still picture the moment clearly, the first game of the season, my heart pounding as I stood in the captains' meeting. I expected the usual reminders about sportsmanship and respect before we were sent back to the court.

I will admit it, I was not fully listening. My thoughts were already on the opening tip and the pressure of the game. Just as the meeting was about to end, one final sentence cut through the noise and pulled me back in.

“Remember, the easiest way to lead your team is through your actions.”

It was simple, but it changed how I understood leadership. Leadership is not defined by how loudly you speak and the title you wear. True leadership is shown in effort, attitude, and consistency. It is about setting the standard and trusting others will follow.

Through FFA, we are given the tools, knowledge, and opportunities to become leaders, but the choice is ours. We must decide whether we will simply know the way or go the way and show the way for others.

For one more year, I humbly ask for the opportunity to lead not just with words, but with actions, and to continue serving those around me by being the example I once needed to see.

Sincerely,

Hadley Ott

My Supervised Agricultural Experience is a small purebred Simmental operation. During my time in FFA, I have purchased, bred, and exhibited three purebred Simmental heifers. With assistance from a local breeder, I have also gained experience with artificial insemination and embryo transfer to further develop my herd.

FUTURE PLANS

After graduating from Lomega High School, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to double major in Agricultural Communications and Agricultural Education. Upon completion of my degree, I plan to return to northwest Oklahoma to serve as an agricultural education teacher and FFA advisor, giving back to the community that shaped my agricultural experience.

"Don't be afraid your life will end; be afraid that it will never begin." - Grace Hansen

I'll never forget finishing my first kick-off speech at a competition and hearing a younger member quietly say, "I want to be you one day." That moment stopped me. It grounded me in the responsibility of leadership and showed me how deeply our words and actions can influence others, even when we don't realize it.

Since then, every opportunity in this jacket has pushed me to lead with integrity, communicate with purpose, and support members with consistency and respect. I've learned that leadership isn't about being perfect. It's about being present, being honest, and being willing to grow.

The experiences that once challenged me have shaped the leader I have become and strengthened my commitment to representing this organization well. FFA has given me direction, confidence, and a clearer understanding of what it means to serve something greater than myself.

And as I carry that moment forward, I remind myself of the question it left behind. What kind of leader will I choose to be for the next member who says, "I want to be you one day?"

Sincerely,

Anh Pham

State Officer Candidate

SAE PROGRAM

I manage a broiler chicken project focused on daily care, growth tracking, and feed efficiency, and I raise show goat through handling, grooming, and health management. I also plan a leadership SAE by organizing a speech showcase to help younger FFA members build confidence and public speaking skills.

FUTURE PLANS:

I am a senior at Goodwell Public Schools and a concurrent student at Oklahoma Panhandle State University. I plan to dual major in Agricultural Education and Computer Science at Oklahoma State University, with the goal of becoming an Ag educator and FFA Advisor in a rural community.

“My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.” – 2 Corinthians 12:9

Let's be honest: it's a lot of fun to win. Everything that we work at we want to be good at, and if we're passionate about something we will do anything it takes to succeed. Yet we've all experienced the pain of our weaknesses and often wonder what role they could possibly play in the bigger picture. In Paul's letter to the Corinthians, he writes of a “thorn” in his side, which he begs the Lord to take away from him. In my life, a sift in the show ring can feel like all my hard work melting away into nothingness. In the speech room, not hearing my name called might mean questioning my ability and purpose. However, out of these devastating moments have come some of the greatest successes of my life, and oftentimes failure results in deeper growth.

FFA members, I challenge you to reach beyond the comfortable; embrace the fear of failure, and allow true growth to flourish in your life. It would be an honor to serve as your next Northwest Area Vice President and be there every step of the way to cheer you on and support you in both the highs and the lows. Every moment and every experience is infinitely valuable in God's plan; embrace it!

Sincerely,

Annie Schneider

“Let all that you do be done in love.”

1 Corinthians 16:14

This is more than a verse to me, it is a way of life. It challenges me to lead with heart in a world that often values toughness. Love is not weakness; it is courage, compassion, and standing firm in kindness even when it is misunderstood.

I have been told that I care too much, too quickly, but I believe caring is a strength. Being an empath allows me to listen, understand, and lead with intention. FFA became the place where that part of me was encouraged. FFA is home, where I found my voice, confidence, and purpose. The blue corduroy jacket I wear represents growth, belonging, and a version of myself I am not ready to give up, because FFA has changed me completely.

Our impact in the Oklahoma FFA Association comes not from titles, but from how we show up for one another. If we choose to let all that we do be done in love, we can unite our organization and inspire those around us. Guided by faith and grounded in FFA, this is my why, this is my home, and this is how I choose to lead.

Sincerely,

Aspen Chumley

SAE PROGRAM

My first SAE involves sheep production and exhibition, where I select and showcase sheep at fairs and shows, reinvesting proceeds and winnings back into this venture. My second SAE focuses on summer vegetable production and sales, partnering with Kelly Plant Farms and including produce from our school greenhouse at the Francis Farmers Market.

FUTURE PLANS

After high school, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to major in Plant and Soil Sciences, with the goal of earning a PhD. I have a strong interest in law related to agriculture and aim to work in crop research to help producers grow food more efficiently and sustainably.

"Where Thou art- that- is Home" -Emily Dickinson.

In a place without a house, I found home. Growing up in a small town, there were only a few things to do: play sports, drive around, or hang out with friends. In 8th grade, I wasn't athletic, I had no license, and I felt like I didn't belong. Being solo in a world where you aren't supposed to be alone isn't ideal.

At one of my first FFA events, I was too nervous to talk to anyone, and a state officer noticed. He introduced himself and then introduced me to a small group of other 8th graders across the way. After a few minutes of talking, a new family began to develop out of young people from all over Oklahoma, places I had never heard of, and places that had more kids in their graduating class than I had in my entire school, but somehow, I belonged.

After that experience, I made it my mission to be the person who reaches out and helps others feel at home. During a strange, awkward, and sometimes scary season of life, I found comfort in FFA. Because of that, it is my goal to make sure every FFA member knows that they have a team rooting for them and they have a home in FFA.

Sincerely,
Bella Muncy

Supervised Agricultural Experience

In the past five years of my FFA career, I have had three SAEs: Show Lamb, Vegetable Production, and Show Swine.

I showed a lamb in the 2023 spring show season, had a vegetable project in my backyard and sold the produce to my local grocery store, and I owned two gilts in the 2025 spring season and one gilt in the 2026 spring season.

Future Plans

I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to pursue a double major in Agricultural Communications and Multimedia Journalism. My goal is to become a news anchor after obtaining my degrees.

“Do what excites” - Kelly Wakasa

For the past four years, I've lived by the phrase, “Do what excites.” When I first joined FFA, I was shy and unsure of myself. My sister was chapter president, but we had just moved schools the year prior and I didn't feel like I belonged. Then my ag teacher told me I was going to give a speech. I had never spoken in public before, but that one push would shape my life in a way I never anticipated.

In my very first year competing, I placed 5th at regionals. Instead of letting that discourage me, I decided from then on I would do what excites. That mindset has led me to leadership camps, contests, awards, and friendships that will last a lifetime. Most importantly, it gave me the confidence to set the goal that led me here today; the goal of serving as a state officer in the Oklahoma FFA Association.

FFA members, being a leader isn't about titles or recognition. It's about encouraging others to take that same leap — to face their fears and discover the excitement that comes with growth. Just like my ag teacher pushed me, I want to be that voice for you — the one that says, ‘You've got this. Do what excites.’

It would be an honor to serve you, to walk alongside you, and to remind you that the things that scare us most often lead to the moments that shape us forever.

Sincerely,

Naomi Gonzalez

SUPERISED AGRICULTURE EXPERIENCE

My SAEs are in the areas of Swine Production, Specialty Animal Placement, Small Animal and Communication Entrepreneurship, and Social Sciences Research. My animal-based experiences have varied from showing pigs to raising fish for breeding and running a small animal care business. I also photograph a multitude of agricultural and livestock events and have developed a research project focused on perceptions of female agriculture teachers.

FUTURE PLANS

After graduating from Yukon High School, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to pursue a dual degree in Agricultural Education and Agricultural Communications. I hope to one day build a career in the agricultural industry as an educator, so that I can inspire, mentor, and empower the next generation of agricultural leaders.

“Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged, for the LORD your God will be with you wherever you go.” - Joshua 1:9

“Be strong and courageous,” echoed in my head as I walked into Alumni Camp for the very first time. My heart was racing, and my mind was filled with doubts: What if they don’t like me? What if I say the wrong thing or don’t fit in?

I locked eyes with two girls who waved me over to an empty seat beside them. I didn’t know it then, but they would become some of my closest friends. At that moment, the fear that had followed me into the room disappeared, and I felt something shift. From that point on, FFA became more than just an organization—it became a place where I felt safe to be myself.

I am forever grateful for those friendships and for the role FFA has played in shaping who I am today. As the next Southwest Area Vice President, I hope to be that person for Oklahoma FFA members—reaching out to those who feel unsure, and helping quiet that voice so others can face their fears with confidence.

Sincerely,

Makayla Morris

SAE PROGRAM

My Supervised Agricultural Experience includes both a Sheep Production-Entrepreneurship and a Beef Production-Placement program. Through my Sheep Production SAE, I raise and show sheep at the county, regional, and state levels, gaining hands-on experience in animal care, health management, and show preparation. My Beef Production SAE involves working for Morris Land and Cattle, where I assist with the daily feeding, care, and overall management of the cattle herd.

FUTURE PLANS

Upon graduation, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University, where I will major in agricultural education and agricultural business. After completing my degree, I intend to teach agricultural education in Southwest Oklahoma while becoming a partner with my father on our family farm.

“Set an example for the believers in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith, and in purity.” - 1 Timothy 4:12

“In a world full of hate, be a light. If you do somebody wrong, make it right. In a world full of darkness, you were born to shine.” These words echoed through the speakers at my very first FFA Alumni Leadership Camp. The words: Be a light. Be a light. Be a light, continued to stay with me for a reason I would soon find out. It wasn't until much later that I realized the impact those words would have on my FFA journey. I began FFA feeling like a shadow. I was unsure of my place, and I had doubts that this organization could truly change me. At the time, I wanted no part of something that I believed had little to offer me. This mindset shifted a year later, when a friend from alumni camp chose to be a light. I honestly didn't know why, but she saw something in me. She invested in me, believed in me, and showed me that I did have a place in this organization and that I could make a difference.

Today, as I prepare to finish my journey wearing the blue and gold, the phrase “Be a Light” continues to persist in my mind. I carry memories that will last a lifetime and a desire to impact others. My desire is to give back to the organization that has given so much to me. I want to be a light for FFA members who feel lost, overlooked, or unsure of where they belong. I can be the one who reminds them that their voice matters. They have a purpose within this organization. One thing is for certain, I have a deep passion for FFA. Regardless of the outcome, FFA holds a special place in my heart. As a state officer, I will serve, lead, and continue helping others discover the light within themselves. So here I am today, asking for you to allow me to “Be a Light” in your lives. Allow me the opportunity to serve as your Southwest Area Vice President.

Sincerely,

Carson Payne

SUPERVISED AGRICULTURAL

EXPERIENCE

My SAE consists of employment in beef processing, retail sales and swine exhibition. My SAE began in 2022 when South Canadian Meats opened in Thomas, Oklahoma. My responsibilities have increased since my employment began. What began as front-counter sales expanded into hands-on meat processing, packaging, and customer service experience that I can use in the future. I began showing pigs in 2021 and have continued to show them through my junior and senior year.

FUTURE PLANS

Upon Graduating from high school, I plan to attend Oklahoma State University to major in Agribusiness with a Pre-Law option. Once I graduate, I plan on attending Texas A&M University to obtain my Law degree. Upon completion of law school, I hope to advocate for rural communities and agricultural policies, so I can support a stronger, sustainable future for Oklahoma’s agricultural industry.
